

TRANSLUMINAL MITRAL ANNULOPLASTY

Abstract of the Disclosure

A mitral annuloplasty and left ventricle restriction device is designed to be transvenously advanced and deployed within the coronary sinus and in some embodiments other coronary veins. The device places tension on adjacent structures, reducing the diameter and/or limiting expansion of the mitral annulus and/or limiting diastolic expansion of the left ventricle. These effects may be beneficial for patients with dilated cardiomyopathy.

10

H:\DOCS\GVH\GVH-3527.DOC
071901